Brief write-up on BLE distance estimator

1. Introduction

My project focuses basically on estimating distance between two BLE devices, using BLE's built-in measurement and declaration of transmit and received power strength. The following sections contain a brief introduction about how the final result is obtained and an rough analysis on the performance.

2. Relation between distance & received signal strength

3. Final result